

The First Snowfall

Winter ugly hands of death is upon us,

but there's a wonder and beauty,

to Winter.

For there are little crystal white diamonds that are each different that no other look like the same.

Even though the trees are bare it's beauty of white crystal diamonds lays on each bare branch tree shows the beautiful side of a winter wonder land and even those it might shows the coldness hands of death it also shows the giving of caring, peace and love.

While beneath the white cold blanket on the ground lays new life for God's green earth to wait the begin of Spring as we watch the beauty of the first snowfall on

God's Green Earth!

by Fleene

November 14th, 2019